Jefferson City.

No record has been found in this office of enlistment, service, capture or parole of a man named E.M. Lowright or Lowright as a member of any Missouri State organization that was in the Confederate States Army.

The records show, however, that one Edward Lowright, private, Company E (Certain Book), Clarke's Missouri Confederate Cavalry (which organization was composed principally of troops from the States of Missouri and Arkansas), enlisted June 6, 1862, at Grand Saline. On the muster roll dated October 21, 1862, last on file, he was reported absent, left sick at Mayeville, Ark., October 22. No further record of him has been found, nor anything additional bearing on the subject of the inquiry.

Dear Mr. Loper:

This is in reply to your letter of 13 October 1953, herewith returned.

A careful search of the Confederate military records in the Army archives has been made and nothing has been found concerning any service rendered by Billy Linthicum.

The records show that one William A. Linthicum was appointed Assistant Surgeon of Clarkson's Battalion Confederate Cavalry, Independent Rangers, Confederate States Army, 17 May 1862. The Field and Staff Master Roll for 1 April to 31 August 1862, dated 14 September 1862, only roll on file, shows him present. No other record of him has been found.

This collection of records is by no means complete, and failure to find the entire record of Confederate military service does not indicate necessarily that an individual did not serve at some period not covered by the records.

Sincerely yours,

Clarkson's Battalion of Independent Rangers, C. S. A., was organized April 1, 1862, with six companies. In May, 1862, it was reduced to two companies of cavalry and one company of infantry. On October 1, 1862, these four companies and one of the cavalry companies left the command. What became of the companies of infantry has not been ascertained, but the four cavalry companies were assigned to the 1st Missouri Cavalry. The companies of infantry, assigned to the remaining two companies, were detached August 6, 1862, making eight companies. On November 6, 1862, they were disbanded and reconstituted as four companies which were ordered to attack a Regiment Missouri Infantry as Companies A, B, C, and D.

Clarkson's Battalion of Cavalry, Independent Rangers, C. S. A., was organized April 1, 1862, with six companies. In May, 1862, it was joined by three companies of recruits and the company of Indiana. Soon after June 1, 1862, three four companies and one of the other companies left the command. What became of the companies of Indiana has not been ascertained, but the four other companies subsequently served in the 1st Battalion Missouri Cavalry, 1st Indian Brigade. The remaining two companies were divided August 4, 1862, making eight companies, and on November 4, 1862, they were mustered and consolidated into four companies, which were assigned to Clark's Regiment Missouri Infantry as companies A, E, G, and I.

Clarkson's Battalion of Cavalry, Independent Rangers, C. S. A., was organized April 3, 1862, with six companies. In May, 1862, it was reduced by three companies of recruits and one company of Indians. Soon after June 1, 1862, these four companies and one of the original companies left the command. What remained of the companies of Indians was not long afterwards sent to four other companies subsequently sent to the 1st Battalion Missouri Cavalry, 1st Indian Brigade. The remaining six companies were divided August 4, 1862, making eight companies, and on November 9, 1862, they were disbanded and consolidated into four companies which were assigned to 1st and 2nd Missouri Infantry as companies B, E, G, and I.

Clarkson's Battalion of Cavalry, Independent Rangers, C. S. A., was organized April 1, 1862, with six companies. In May, 1862, it was joined by three companies of volunteers and one company of Indians. Soon after June 1, 1862, the four companies and one of the original companies left the command. The remainder of the Battalion of Indians has not been ascertained but the last other companies subsequently arrived in the 1st Battalion Missouri Cavalry, 1st Indian Brigade. The remaining two companies were divided August 6, 1862, further east, and on November 6, 1862, they were disbanded and consolidated into four companies which were assigned to the 2nd Regiment Missouri Infantry as companies B, E, G, and I.

Subsequent to May, 1862, there have been changes and one of the original companies has been disbanded. What became of the companies of the original four is uncertain, but the four that remain are as follows: The 1st Battalion Missouri Cavalry, which has had 6 companies; the 2nd Battalion Missouri Cavalry, which has had 4 companies; the 3rd Battalion Missouri Cavalry, which has had 4 companies; and the 4th Battalion Missouri Cavalry, which has had 4 companies. The 1st and 2nd Battalions were organized on November 1, 1862, and the 3rd and 4th Battalions were organized on November 1, 1862. The 1st and 2nd Battalions were organized at St. Louis, Mo., and the 3rd and 4th Battalions were organized at St. Louis, Mo. The 1st and 2nd Battalions were organized at St. Louis, Mo., and the 3rd and 4th Battalions were organized at St. Louis, Mo.

*This company was formed by order of the 1st Missouri
Cavalry Mounted Volunteers.

Clarkson's Battalion of Cavalry Independent Rangers, C. S. A. was organized April 1, 1862, at Lexington, Mo. It was composed of three companies of volunteers and one company of Indians. After June 1, 1862, the three volunteer companies of the original companies left the service. What remained of the company of Indians was later organized into the 1st Cavalry, 1st Indian Brigade. The remainder of the company were divided August 1, 1862, into four companies and on November 8, 1862, they were discharged and reorganized into four companies which were assigned to the 1st Missouri
Cavalry as Companies D, E, G and I.

Clarkson's Battalion of Cavalry Independent Rangers, C. S. A. was organized April 1, 1862, with six companies and one company of Infantry. It was composed of recruits and companies and was organized at the residence of Clarkson, near the mouth of the Mississippi River. After July 1, 1862, these four companies and one of the six companies of Infantry were not sent to the 1st Battalion, Missouri Cavalry, but remained at the mouth of the Mississippi River. The remaining two companies of Infantry were sent to the 1st Battalion, Missouri Cavalry, and were divided August 4, 1862, making eight companies. These four companies, which were dismounted and sent to the 1st Battalion, Missouri Cavalry, were assigned to Clarkson's Regiment Missouri Infantry as Companies B, E, G, and I.

This company subsequently became a company in Clarkson's Battalion of Cavalry, Independent Rangers, C. S. A.

Clarkson's Battalion of Cavalry, Independent Rangers, C. S. A., was organized April 1, 1862, with six companies. In May, 1862, it was reduced to three companies of cavalry and the company of infantry. Shortly after June 1, 1862, these four companies and all of the regular companies of the battalion were disbanded. What became of the companies of the battalion has not been ascertained, but the four other companies subsequently served in the 1st Battalion Missouri Cavalry, 1st Indian Brigade. The remaining two companies were joined August 4, 1862, making eight companies, and on November 1, 1862, they were designated and consolidated into four companies, which were assigned to Clark's Regiment Missouri Infantry as Companies B, E, G, and I.

*This company was formed at Camp H. at Richmond, Cherokee Mounted Volunteers.
Clarkson's Battalion of Cavalry, Independent Rangers, C.S.A., was organized April 1, 1862, with six companies. In May, 1862, it was joined by three companies of regulars and one company of Indians. Soon after June 1, 1862, four more companies and one of the original companies left the battalion. What became of the company of Indians has not been ascertained, but was in other companies which they served in the 1st Battalion of Missouri Cavalry, 1st Indian Brigade. The rest of the companies were divided August 1, 1862, making eight companies, and at November 1, 1862, they were divided and consolidated into four companies which were assigned to Clark's Regiment Missouri Infantry as Companies D, E, F, and G.

Clarkson's Battalion of Cavalry, Independent Rangers, C. S. A., was organized April 1, 1862, with six companies. In May, 1862, it was joined by three companies of recruits and one company of Indians. Six of the companies left the command. What became of the original companies has not been ascertained, but a few of our company's volunteers served in the 1st Battalion Missouri Cavalry. Let Indian Brigade. The remaining two companies were joined August 4, 1862, making eight companies. And in November 2, 1862, they were disbanded and were added into four companies which were assigned to Clark's Regiment Missouri Infantry as companies A, E, G, and I.

Remarks:

Clarkson's Battalion of Cavalry Independent Rangers, C.
S. A. was organized April 1, 1862, at Fort Davis, Texas. In May, 1862, it was joined by two companies of cavalry and one company of infantry. Soon after June 1, 1862, these four companies and one of the infantry companies left the post and went to the Indian Territory. The remainder of the battalion remained at Fort Davis. On November 1, 1862,
the remainder of the battalion was divided into two regiments, making eight companies, and on November 1, 1862, was transferred to the 1st Regiment Missouri Infantry as Company A, K. G. and I.

Remarks:

This country was the scene of a battle in which the British and the American forces were engaged.
The British forces were defeated and the American forces were victorious. The battle was fought on May 1st, 1862, and the American forces were led by General George B. McClellan. The British forces were led by General Robert E. Lee. The battle was a tactical draw, but it was a victory for the Union in terms of morale and strategy. The Union forces were able to maintain their position and the British forces were forced to retreat. The battle was a turning point in the war and it showed that the Union was capable of standing up to the Confederacy in a conventional battle.

Remarks:

Clarkson's Battalion of Cavalry Independent Rangers, C. S. A., was organized April 1, 1862, with six companies. In May, 1862, it was reduced to three companies, and one company of scouts. Soon after June 1, 1862, these four companies and part of the scouts were sent to the command. When the command was disbanded, it has not been ascertained how many of the companies were actually served in the 1st Texas Mounted Cavalry, the Indian Brigade. The remaining companies were disbanded August 1, 1862, making eight companies and 100 men. In 1862, they were disbanded and reorganized into four companies. They were assigned to Clark's Regiment, Missouri Infantry, as Companies E, F, G, and I.

Clarkson's Battalion of Cavalry, Independent Rangers, C.
S. A. was organized April 1, 1862, with six companies. In May, 1862, it was joined by three companies of recruits and one company of Indians. Soon after May, 1862, these four companies and one of the regular companies left the command. What became of these companies has not been ascertained, but the Capt. of the company subsequently served in the 1st Battalion, Missouri Cavalry, 1st Indian Brigade.
The remaining two companies were attached August 4, 1862, making eight companies. On November 4, 1862, they were dismounted and redesignated as the 1st Cavalry, which was assigned to Clark's Regiment, Missouri Cavalry, as Companies
D, K, G, and I.

Clarkson's Battalion of Cavalry Independent Rangers, C. S. A. was organized Aug. 1, 1861, with six companies. In May, 1862, it was reorganized into two companies of mounted and one company of infantry. Since that time, 1862, these three companies and one of the original companies left the command. What became of the others of Indians has not been ascertained. The remaining companies were sent to the 1st Battalion, Missouri Cavalry, 1st Indian Brigade. The remaining companies were divided August 4, 1862, making eight companies, and in November, 1862, they were disbanded, and the companies were sent to the 1st Brigade, D. E. G. and I.

Your communication of 16th
met for me & is in hand. My admiration of your Major's mind, towards the objects of the Dept which you have been Commanding constrained me to desire to set my own character and that of my Company right with you. I wrote you on the 8th met making frank statement of facts connected with the action of my Company upon the truth of which I fear not to risk myself. I have been persecuted since and you, but if there are any charges against me I should like to know the particular nature of them. I am so situated that I cannot visit Memphis at present,
but if visiting should have been within a few days
to present it shall be in the city.

Union records show that one Clinton Fort, private, 7th Texas, Confederate States Army, was sent from Pittsburg Landing to St. Louis, Missouri in June, 1862, and his name appears on a roll of Prisoners of War received at Alton, Illinois June 27, 1862, with the following remark in pencil on the roll, "Dead".

He signed a receipt for Ordnance stores at Corinth, Mississippi May 3, 1862.

A man whose signature appears to be the same as that of the above named became Captain of a unit designated as "Fort's Scouts", Confederate States Army, which is shown to have been in service in December, 1864, but no rolls of the organization are on file.

He signed a parole at Columbus, Mississippi May 16, 1865, as Captain of a Cavalry Company attached to the 2nd Missouri.
